

Site Service

Involved In Expansion

LBH offers a full service package when installing and supervising on site. The installation comes with a firm knowledge of how to achieve the best results with LBH products.

Qualified and trained LBH engineers are always available during:

- Assembly and/or erection of expansion joints
- Pre-instructions for installation and maintenance
- Training and supervision of Site Personnel
- Supervision during installation
- Site inspection and survey

Over the years LBH International has developed the technology and the know-how to make it one of the leaders in the expansion joints business, and to provide our customers with the best site service solutions.

Our site service team is ready to support our customers all over the world.
